

Exercise lesson 2:

- 1- Three central units are essential to the structuring of the statistics:
 - a) persons, Households and dwellings
 - b) persons, enterprises/establishments and households
 - c) persons, enterprises/establishments and dwellings
 - d) None of the above

- 2- It is best if identifier codes contain some information about the unit.
(for wrong answer: see page 2 last paragraph)

- 3- In ideal situation, any item of information in the administrative register should be accompanied by two dates:
 - a) Date of birth, date of death
 - b) Date of registration, date of birth
 - c) Date of event, date of registration
 - d) Date of first registration, date of updating(for wrong answer: see page 3 , paragraph 6)

- 4- Using administrative data for statistical purposes does not ensure stability of statistics over time

(for wrong answer: see page 4)

- 5- The coordination with register keepers is to ensure that they give priority to demands that "only" serve statistical purposes.
(for wrong answer: see page 5)

- 6- Absence of a national level legislation does not necessarily prevent any use of administrative data.
(for wrong answer: see page 5)

- 7- The fundamental principles of official statistics is an example of:
 - a) Legal framework
 - b) Policy framework
 - c) Organizational framework
 - d) Technical framework