Regional Course on Communication and Advocacy for Agricultural and Rural Statistics

20 – 24 April 2015 Beijing, China

Advocacy Strategy: Identify Decisionmakers' Key Interests

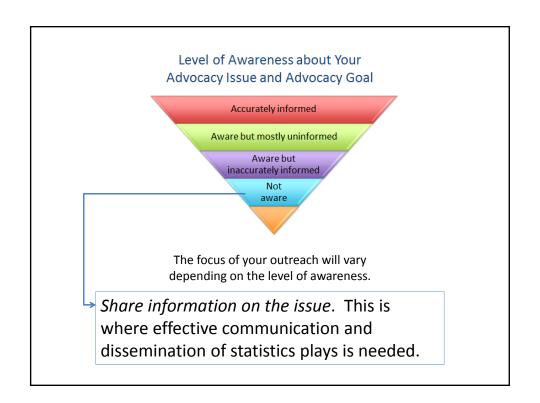

- Evaluate awareness and position of key decision-makers
- Identify key interests of decision-makers as a means to persuade them to take action

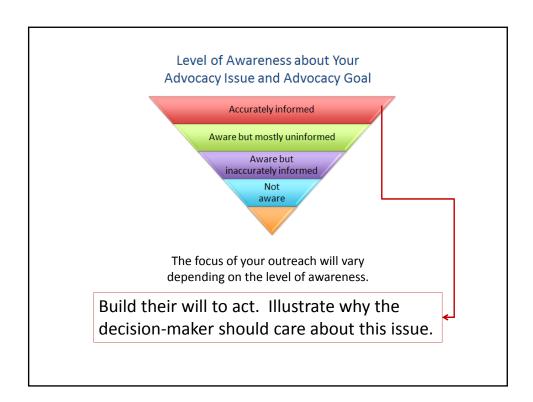

- Effective advocacy strategies are designed to meet your decision-makers where they are, and move them toward your viewpoint.
- The focus of your outreach will vary depending on the level of awareness.

Position on Your Advocacy Goal

Opposed: Clearly against your viewpoint.

Non-mobilized: No opinion yet or undecided.

Low support: Won't oppose your goal but also not likely to be an active, visible promoter either. Generally supportive.

High support: Actively working or speaking out on behalf of your goal as a visible and vocal champion to make a change.

Research to accurately understand a decision-maker's position.

Your Action

Opposed: Mostly, inform.

Non-mobilized: Do outreach to persuade. Low support: Do outreach to persuade.

High support: No need to persuade or advocate to, but maintain relationships.

Persuasion: Understanding What Your Decision-Maker Cares About

What will likely shape their opinion or response to your advocacy goal??

Persuasion: What are their key interests? Evidence and data Upcoming elections Political positioning Agricultural and rural development issues Constituent viewpoints Time International standards Media coverage Financial considerations Professional advancement -Personal history & experience, Relationships or networks including with official statistics institutions

Practice Persuading

GETTING SORTED

Group Exercise: Identifying Decision-Makers & their Key Interests

UNDERSTANDING DECISION-MAKERS & THEIR KEY INTERESTS