Definition of Administrative Register in Armenia

The Administrative Registers are individual addressable databases, that are used by state and local self-governmental bodies, and are the basis and effect for administrative influence.

Principles of forming the administrative registers in Armenia

- Definitions of concepts and criteria
- Classifications (status, type of activity, production, administrative territorial and other units)
- Encoding (common identification codes)
- Individual addressable information (developed as a result of using administrative tools)

Usage of Administrative Registers in Armenia

- Bodies that create administrative registers (realization of their individual addressable administrative influence authority)
- Other bodies that possess administrative authority (by identifying it with individual data from other administrative registers).
- Statistical bodies (for providing public statistical services)
- Scientific educational institutions and individual researchers (for providing scientific research and educational services)

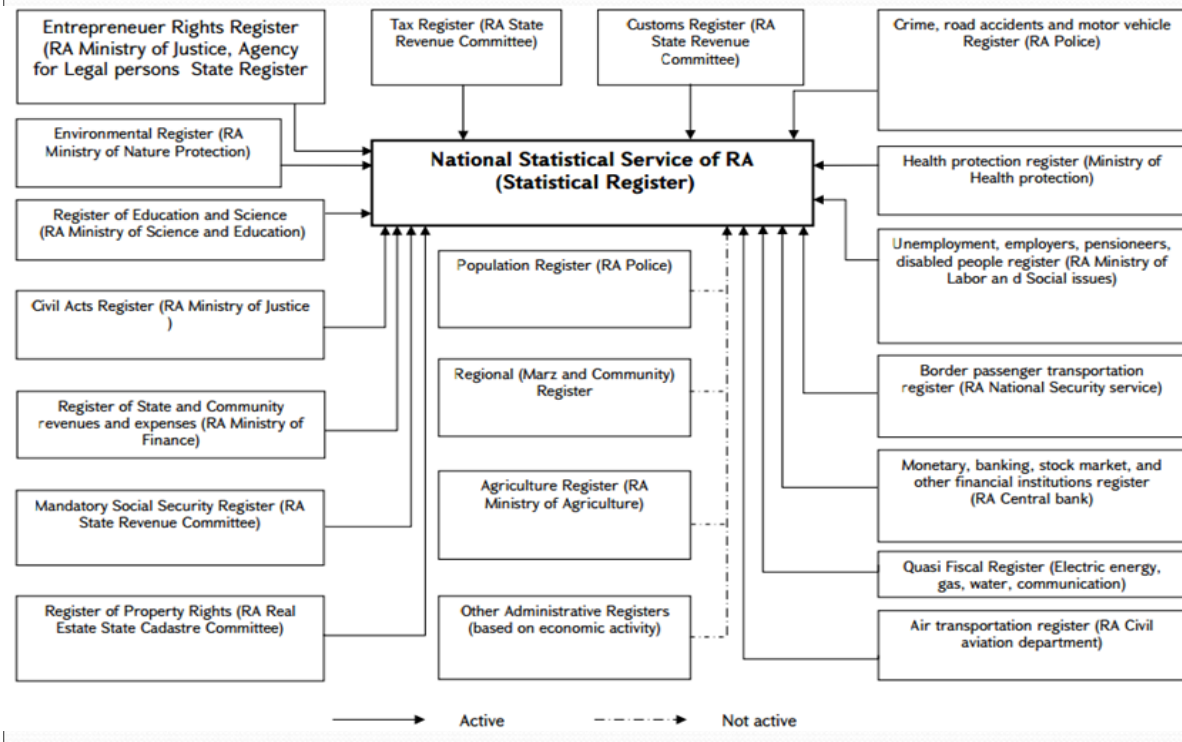

The peculiarities of using administrative registers by official statistics in Armenia

- Official statistics, as a provider of statistical information, is entitled to use and modify the information received from administrative registers in order to ensure their compliance and comparability with statistical definitions and classifications.
- The data that is received in this way cannot be transferred to the primary information holder (administrative register) or transferred to the third party for the purpose of using them for administrative purposes.

Authorities who carry out the realization of State mission and the maintenance of administrative registers in Armenia

- Governmental bodies that have administrative power (ministries, administrations, etc.)
- Local self-governmental bodies
- Governmental bodies that render public services (non-administrative)

Link between administrative registers

The main Issues in linking SBR to other registers

- The main challenge for using the administrative registers in integrity is lack of the same unique identification codes in different administrative registers.
- Untimely information of different administrative registers
- Incomplete information of different registers

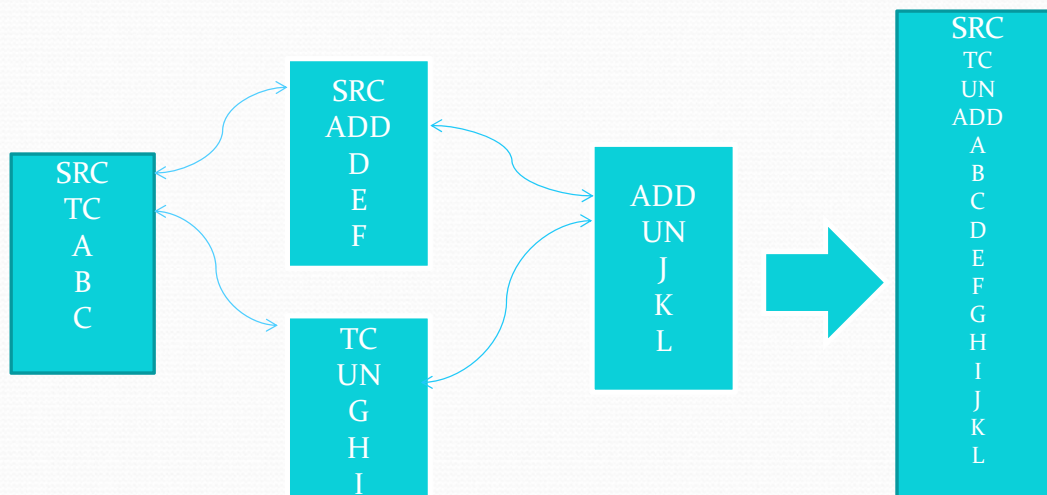

At the moment, the Government of Armenia is working towards the creation of the single administrative register.

The works NSS RA related on links with different administrative registers

Somehow NSS RA organizes the works to get data about the same units from the different administrative registers by using:

1. different combinations of codes (state registration code, tax code etc.)
2. Name of the same units
3. Addresses of the same units, etc.

Example to link different administrative databases to get data we need

SRC- State registration code
TC- Tax registration code
UN – Name of unit
ADD- Address of unit
A, B, C, D ... - different data about the same units
